Fiat choses Port of Baltimore as exclusive East Coast port for new car shipments

BALTIMORE - Fiat's new 500 L series is making its way from Italy to the East Coast and is exclusively going to the Port of Baltimore.

According to the Maryland Port Association, Fiat chose the Port of Baltimore as the only port on the East Coast to take the shipment of new Fiats. The first shipment will be unloaded beginning today.

Fiat will be importing about 30,000 "500 L's" over the next 12 months.
